Volunteer Group Mission Statement

To expand awareness and promote the importance of IH/OEHS education globally, AIHA offers digital versions of a series of PDF publications and e-learning courses at discounted pricing. Among the specially discounted products are the AIHA White Book, the Noise Manual, the Basic Principles of Occupational Hygiene e-course, and many more. Use discount code DEVNAT to take advantage of this offer. Please note that the publications and e-Learning courses are in English only.

Goals and Objectives

- Build OEHS capacity in areas of the world where it is lacking.
- Serve as a resource for organizations, groups, and individuals outside the United States requesting assistance from AIHA on organizational, professional, or technical matters.
- Support groups and individuals who provide industrial hygiene training, resource material, and equipment in areas where they are needed.
- Increase international awareness of industrial hygiene and the importance of preventing occupational disease.
- Promote public awareness of occupational health and the OEHS profession.
- Promote awareness of OEHS among institutions and agencies that provide related services in developing countries, e.g. NGOs, government and public health agencies, educational institutions, labor unions, and employer organizations.
- Enhance co-operation among international occupational hygiene organizations and build an understanding of international issues.
- Encourage cooperation among international occupational hygiene organizations and support the development of professional industrial hygiene associations in developing countries.
- Encourage discussion and knowledge exchange among occupational health professionals on topics relating to preserving occupational health and safety worldwide.
• Support application of OEHS expertise to identify and control occupational health hazards worldwide.
• Support efforts by OEHS to offer their expertise and services in countries where it is needed.
• Support and advocate for policies, standards, and initiatives to prevent exposure to occupational hazards in all countries.

Current Projects
• Microgrant Advisory Group

Articles
Exposure to Respirable Silica Among Clay Brick Workers in Katmandu Valley, Nepal

Qualifications to Join
Members must be an AIHA member in good standing. If you are interested in learning more about membership, please visit https://www.aiha.org/membership.

Already an AIHA member and interested in joining this committee? Click JOIN NOW below!