We are a welcoming and active group that engages primarily through our virtual committee and social meetings. We are always looking to welcome new members, who can participate in a manner that works for their busy lifestyle:

- Joining a project team, such as creating a brochure, writing an article, or reviewing an award application
- Participate on monthly committee meetings—provide feedback, recommend areas to explore, communicate opportunities to collaborate.
- One and done micro-volunteering tasks as the needs arise.
- Mentorship and professional development.
- Leadership development (serving as an officer of the group or project team leader).
