

Volunteer Group Mission Statement

Empower young workers to promote a culture of health and safety through education and the practice of health and safety fundamentals.

Scope of Work

- Teen Workplace Health & Safety
- Young Worker Health & Safety

Goals and Objectives

More comprehensive content develop for our Safety Matters Center on our website is underway to include more self-service units such as videos, training materials, informational posters/handouts etc, that are accessible to teen workers, employers, educators, and facilitators.

Current Projects

The team is currently working on 4 projects:

- 1) Teen Workplace Health and Safety Committee Award
- 2) Poster for Teen Workplace Health & Safety (in teen lingo)
- 3) Zoom Version of Safety Matters
- 4) Re-Tool Safety Matters Graphics
- 5) Formation of a Teen Advisory Council to consult on various projects-meets virtually- this is a unique opportunity for teens to get involved-those who are artistic/tech savvy/those who like to be on "center stage" and those who prefer to work "backstage".

This group served as an advisory board for this video: From story board to final product.

Group Dynamics

This is an awesome opportunity for IH's who want National Committee experience while simultaneously giving back to their profession by connecting with stakeholders in their local communities. Members of this committee are eager to get involved in their local community to connect with educators, employers, legislators, and students. We meet monthly via teleconference and have the opportunity to work closely with AIHA marketing on their products geared for teen workplace health & safety. The amount of time you can offer is up to you; we welcome all volunteers who are interested in serving the mission of the Teen Workplace Health & Safety.
