Instructor Bio

Prior to establishing Occupational Health Management, LLC, Nancy McClellan worked as the global industrial hygiene manager for both AbbVie Biopharmaceutical and LafargeHolcim for over 8 years. She has invested many years in practicing occupational hygiene in a wide variety of high hazard industries as a self-employed consultant including industries such as the automotive, military, hospital, electronic, food, pharmaceutical, chemical, and housing industries. She has also provided legal expert witnessing for nationally-profiled, catastrophic incidents and subject matter instruction all over the globe.

In her volunteer professional life, Ms. McClellan currently serves on the Board of Directors for both the American Industrial Hygiene Association and the globally recognized Occupational Hygiene Training Association. She has also served as a past Director and committee chair for the American Board of Industrial Hygiene Board of Directors and she continued to represent ABIH as the Chair of the Joint Occupational Hygiene Ethics Education Committee after completing her term in 2010. She is an active member of the British and Irish Occupational Hygiene Societies as a conference speaker and organizational liaison.

Dr. Thomas P. Fuller is a Certified Industrial Hygienist with over 35 years of experience in occupational safety, industrial hygiene, environmental management, and public health. He has experience in healthcare, nuclear power plants, labor organizations, biopharmaceutical labs, manufacturing, and universities. Dr. Fuller became interested in workplace violence while working for the Massachusetts Nurses Association on cases where member nurses were injured by patients, but employers were not reporting resulting lost workdays on OSHA injury reports because they did not consider a broken nose or arm by a patient in the psychiatric ward as a workplace injury. Dr. Fuller has worked on community outreach programs with local law enforcement agencies to help businesses to better understand their roles in worker safety. He has taught Professional Development

Courses on workplace violence at AIHce. He has been a member of AIHA since 2002 and is currently the Vice Chair of the International Affairs Committee.
